should not be such as would involve exercise of executive, administrative or judicial powers as the holder of a post or exercise of authority in the name, or on behalf, Government.

(iv) An honorary worker should be paid a nominal ary of Re. 1 per month in respect of the civil post the ies of which he is required to perform. This is necessary order to bring him within the ambit of the Government vants Conduct Rules and other service rules. An norary worker need not, however, actually draw such minal salary and may by writing to the Accounts Officer erned voluntarily surrender it. For the purposes of cial records, however, such nominal salary must be fixed specified in the order of appointment.

(v) All honorary workers should automatically and prio vigore be subject to the provisions of the Indian cial Secrets Act, 1923. They need not be required to any declaration in this connection, but the position uld expressly be made clear to each honorary worker at time of his appointment.

3. It is realised that strict enforcement of the above nciples may present practical difficulties in individual es. For example, it may not be necessary to enforce requirements of clause (iii) in paragraph 2 above in the e of persons who have previously held a high office ler Government. Again, honorary workers who are minent in the public or political life of the country not reasonably be expected to sever their lifelong ociation with the political parties to which they belong; a working arrangement, therefore rules 18, 20 and 23 of Government Servants Conduct Rules ought not to be orced against such persons in so far as participation in itics is concerned. In all other respects, however, such sons should be governed by the provisions of the vernment Servants Conduct Rules.

. In the case of the employment of Members of Parliaent in an honorary capacity it is necessary to ensure that h employment does not amount to holding an office of fit under Article 102 (1) (a) of the Constitution. In h cases the requirements of clause (iii) in paragraph 2 ve should be strictly adhered to while the requirements clause (iv) should not be enforced at all. The instrucns issued in the Ministry of Law's Office Memorandum . F. 55(1)/50-C, dated the 6th February 1951, regardthe payment of allowances and fees to Members of rliament should also be carefully borne in mind.

5. All proposals for the employment of honorary rkers in civil posts as well as all proposals for exceptnal treatment in cases in which the Ministry concerned nsider that the requirements of any of the basic principles l down in paragraph 2 above should be relaxed, should referred to the Ministry of Home Affairs for prior ncurrence.

3. It should be made clear to honorary workers at the e of their appointment that there is no obligation on the t of Government to provide them with residential ommodation or any other concessions usually allowed to aried employees of Government. Each such case would treated on its merits. Accommodation, furniture, etc., y be made available if justified and to the extent it can done without detriment to Government's commitments salaried employees.

7. A copy of this Office Memorandum should be communicated to every honorary worker along with the orders his appointment.

8. The Ministry of Finance, etc., are requested to note ese instructions and communicate them to their Attached d Subordinate Offices for guidance. They are also quested to examine the cases of any honorary workers present employed under them or in their Attached or abordinate Offices with a view to ensure compliance with ese instructions.

9. These instructions supersede the orders contained the late Home Department Office Memorandum o. 50/15/39—Public, dated the 24th October 1939.
